"Dawn Reflections on Island Lake" Unveiled

The Town of Orangeville has three new pieces of public art on display, including Dawn Reflections on Island Lake by music teacher and photographer Stewart Gunn, located at 37 Armstrong Street.

"It's an honour to have my work selected for public display," said Gunn.

Councillor Joe Andrews, who serves as Chair of the Orangeville Economic Development and Culture Committee said "Choosing the finalists is never easy with such an extraordinary pool of talent across Dufferin County. These four new additions will undoubtedly enhance the remarkable public art collection already enriching our community."

Pictured with Gunn are Rob Koekkoek, President of Orangeville Hydro, and Councillor Andrews.

Christmas Album

Students have chance to perform on upcoming recordings.

Through the fall of '25, students will be given the opportunity to be a part of project to make a Christmas Album. Musicians of all ages and skill levels are welcome to take part, either playing an instrument or singing.

Students will begin learning parts through the month of November, with the intention of recording in early December.

Recording will most likely take place on weekends, with the possibility of weekday evenings.

There will be no additional charge for students participating outside of weekly lesson times.

Band Program

As part of the Christmas Album Project, I will be resuming the Band Program, starting in November. Anyone interested in being a part of a band is welcome to join.

Rehearsals will most likely be on weekends, with the possibility of evening lessons during the week.

I'd like to get a few different bands together, so am hoping to have participation from as many students as possible.

Students will have the opportunity to play drums, bass, guitar, piano, keyboard, percussion and more.

Students do not need prior experience, and I will be sure to find a way for students of all skill levels to participate.

After the Christmas break, the Band Program will continue, with the aim of preparing for a Spring Concert in May 2026.

There will be no additional charge for students participating outside of weekly lesson times.
